Liability as withholding agent: All employers required to withhold federal income tax from employees are required to withhold Mississippi income tax and remit to the State Tax Commission. If you are a withholding agent for federal income tax purposes but do not withhold Mississippi income tax, you should register immediately as a withholding agent for Mississippi income tax purposes.

If tax was remitted under more than one FEIN during the year, list the additional FEIN beneath the reporting FEIN on the front of the form.

Social Security or Federal Identification Number: The Social Security Number or the Federal Employer Identification Number of the payor must be shown. If you have neither, write the word NONE in the blank for Federal Identification Number.

Out of balance accounts: If line 3 and 4 on Form 89-140 are not the same:

To adjust for underpayment, file an additional tax return (Form 89-105) for December (monthly filers) or 4th quarter (quarterly filers). Mail Form 89-105 with your payment in a separate envelope from Form 89-140. Make sure your Form 89-105 is marked additional return.

To adjust for overpayment, determine the period that resulted in the overpayment and file an amended tax return (Form 89-105) for that period. Credit will not be posted to your account from the submittal of the Annual Information Return (Form 89-140). After processing the amended return, a letter will be mailed by the Withholding Division authorizing the credit which would then be applied to future withholding periods.
